

HERE Technologies

HERE Technologies is a location data and technology platform company. We empower our customers to achieve better outcomes – from helping a city manage its infrastructure or a business optimize its assets to guiding drivers to their destination safely. At HERE we take it upon ourselves to be the change we wish to see. We create solutions that fuel innovation, provide opportunity and foster inclusion to improve people's lives. If you are inspired by an open world and driven to create positive change, join us.

Working Student (Web Development) (m/f/x)

City: Berlin; Starting date (earliest): At the earliest possible; Duration: 6 months;
Remuneration: 1,479€ gross (for Masters' Student- 20hrs/week contract); Closing date: 15/07/25

Working field

The HERE WeGo team brings world class HERE products and services to the consumer market. We're a team of around 20 engineers, designers and product people, fully equipped to bring state-of-the-art location technology to consumers world-wide via our [HERE WeGo Apps Link: <https://www.here.com/applications/wego>] for Mobile and Web.]

As part of our cross functional team you will help us improve our single page web application. You will work closely with designers, engineers and product manager to find the best solution, thereby shaping our apps' offering.

Work in a small, cross-functional team to improve a user-friendly web applications
Implement new features, improve existing ones and fix defects
Build things the right way, by not taking shortcuts or accepting hacks but solving problems at the right level
Work with modern technology (Typescript and React) to build a clean, well-tested code base

Requirements

You are a team-player who collaborates with developers, testers and product owner to create an amazing user experience. You have excellent interpersonal skills and can learn fast.

Experience in Web Development
Knowledge of core web technology (JavaScript, HTML, CSS, REST)
Experience with React and Typescript- nice to have
Very good communication skills, verbal and in writing

What we offer

Challenging problems to solve
Collaborative, encouraging colleagues
Hybrid work model
Attractive training and development plan
Learning, professional growth opportunities
Feedback so you will know how well you are doing
International Environment

This role is based in Berlin and it is a working student opportunity for 20 hours/ week for 6 months (with a possibility of extension). Applicant needs to have student status and must be enrolled in a German university in Berlin/ Brandenburg.

Application

You can send your applications to malvika.mehra@here.com or apply at our careers page:

<https://careers-here.icims.com/jobs/76013/working-student-%28web-development%29-%28m-f-x%29/job?mode=view&mobile=false&width=733&height=500&bga=true&needsRedirect=false&jan1offset=60&jun1offset=120>

More information at <https://stellenticket.de/195504/TUB/>
Offer visible until 01/08/25

