

Gemic

Gemic is a global human-centric strategy and innovation consultancy helping some of the largest global companies solve their most difficult strategy challenges. Companies usually come to us when they need help “designing for discontinuity” and re-imagining their role in contexts that are multiplying in number and complexity. We develop strategies with the power to shape industry and society.

The Gemic Internship Program

City: Berlin, NYC; Starting date (earliest): At the earliest possible; Remuneration: TBD;
Closing date: 28/09/25

Working field

Strategy and innovation consulting

What we offer

Gemic is currently accepting applications for our internship program with engagements available in New York, Toronto, Berlin, or Abu Dhabi as early as this Fall. We're also open to anyone looking for internships in 2026 and encourage you to apply now.

Our internships are best suited for final year undergrad or grad students, recent grads and/or those with under 2 years of experience who have a genuine interest in a consulting career.

We welcome applicants from all fields of study, personal and professional backgrounds. As a global team of thinkers, we believe that a diversity of perspectives makes us better, not just at decoding the world today, but also at building the future we want to see.

Application

Please submit your application via the link below before September 28, 2025. If you have any questions about Gemic or the internship program, you can reach out to internships@gemic.com.

<https://www.gemic.com/apply/internship>

More information at <https://stellenticket.de/197981/TUB/>

Offer visible until 28/09/25

