We are NORITUAL LAB, one of the fastest growing CPG brands in Europe. Built completely bootstrapped out of Berlin and Tokyo, we've scaled to near eight figures in revenue in just two years across Amazon, TikTok Shop, and international B2B channels. No external capital. 600+ B2B café partners across Europe, a fast-growing DTC business in Germany, and a Japan operation we're building from the ground up. We move fast, operate lean, and build for the long term.

What You'll Build

We seed products to hundreds of creators across Europe and the US. Right now, the signals that tell us:

- who to work with,
- who will convert,
- and how to find similar creators

are scattered across platforms.

You'll help us replace manual workflows with scalable systems.

Your core ownership will focus on:

- The Discovery Pipeline: Building scraping and ingestion pipelines to crawl TikTok and Instagram for niche creator signals (wellness, aesthetics, coffee alternatives, etc.)
- The Scoring Engine: Designing enrichment and ranking logic based on engagement, audience quality, growth patterns, and conversion signals
- The Growth Layer: Connecting pipelines directly into outreach and reporting infrastructure to turn raw data into growth

Requirements

- Studying Computer Science, Data Engineering, or another highly quantitative field
- Strong fundamentals in Python, APIs, scraping, and data parsing
- Fascinated by TikTok, social platforms, and creator economics
- Excited by messy real-world data problems and building clean systems from scratch

- Want to write code that ships fast and directly impacts growth

What we offer

- Competitive compensation + unlimited matcha
- Direct exposure to how a modern consumer brand scales across TikTok Shop, Amazon, and international retail
- Work directly with the founders
- Real ownership and immediate production impact
- Flexible around your academic schedule
