Anton - E-Learning

ANTON is a learning platform for schools based in Berlin, enabling children to learn independently and have fun. ANTON is available for free and without ads for all year groups and curriculum subjects. We are looking for people with excellent British English language skills from all disciplines who would like to support us in creating educational content for the UK version of ANTON.

Working Student (f/m/d): Creating Digital Learning Content (UK)

This position is for a part-time role for students enrolled at a German university.

City: Berlin; Starting date (earliest): At the earliest possible; Remuneration: Starting at 15€/hour (first year)

Tasks

- Creating new educational content for some of the following subjects: English, maths, science, computing, EAL, geography, history, music and PSHE
- Creating visual elements to facilitate understanding for all learners
- Critically reviewing and contributing to the work of others in the team
- Translating existing educational content into British English from (US English and/or German)
- Testing, editing and improving existing educational content

Requirements

- Enrolled at a German university for at least another 12 months
- Excellent British English language skills in spelling and grammar
- Sound knowledge of the school curriculum in England
- An interest in digital education, pedagogy, alternative learning and teaching concepts
- Good German skills
- Creativity, reliability, attention to detail, an independent and thorough approach to work
- Good IT skills and a desire to familiarise yourself with a new programme and tools
- Preferably: experience in teaching and tutoring children

What we offer

- Help to create a brand new product that is already helping millions of pupils and teachers to learn more effectively and enjoyably
- A friendly, multicultural team based in Germany’s capital city with experience in the development of successful educational software
- Exciting part-time job with a flexible working schedule (15-20 hours per week; please check in advance whether the number of weekly hours is compatible with

BAföG, family insurance, or similar programmes)
- Possibility for hybrid working
- Flexible starting date
- starting salary: €15 per hour

Application

Let us know why you are the right person for the job and what subject areas you would be most interested in working in. Please attach your CV and cover letter as PDF files. We would also love to see your ANTON Pixel Paint picture (created in the app) as an attachment to your application!

More information at https://stellenticket.de/207148/TUB/
Offer visible until 24/10/26